◊ The Coaches

Head Coach Steve Lowe begins his fifth year with the Badger program

❑ Head Coach—Steve Lowe

Steve Lowe enters his fifth year as Head Coach of the University of Wisconsin women's volleyball team, having accumulated a 79–56 career record during his first four years while leading the program to its first post-season tournament appearance in 1989.

The Badgers captured the inaugural Women's Invitational Volleyball Championship and finished the season with the best record in the history of the program at 26–11. In 1989, Lowe's team tied its highest finish in the Big Ten Conference ranking in a tie for fifth with a 9–9 record.

A native of Iowa City, Iowa, Steve was the assistant coach at the University of the Pacific from 1983 until his appointment at Wisconsin in 1986. As the first assistant and primary recruiter, Steve aided the Tigers in winning the 1985 NCAA Division I Championship title. UOP claimed the 1986 NCAA championship title as well. The Tigers also made it to the NCAA Championship semi-finals two other years placing third in 1984 and fourth in 1983.

In the summer of 1989, Steve served as an assistant coach for the United States Olympic Festival South team.

In addition to his coaching duties, Steve works as a technical consultant in sports psychology with the United States National Women's Volleyball team, and travels on domestic and international tours with the team. Teaching techniques in goal setting, concentration and motivation, Steve develops individual mental preparation programs for each national team player. He has also worked as a mental preparation consultant with university and high school athletes.

Steve is a 1978 psychology graduate of the University of Iowa. He received his master's degree in applied behavior analysis with a specialization in athletics from the University of the Pacific in 1981. He served as a lecturer in psychology of coaching and volleyball at the UOP two years.

Lowe's Coaching Philosophy

"Central to my philosophy of coaching is the belief that coaches are primarily teachers, and that their main task is to provide a positive learning environment. In this environment, the players should be rewarded for developing and improving their skills. The players should be challenged to maximize their potential. They should be presented with new creative ideas that will challenge them to be the best they can be.

"As a coach, I must try and develop the total person—physical, mental, social, and emotional. In collegiate athletics, a coach must never lose sight of the academic, social, and athletic needs of the athletes. I truly believe in the concept of the student-athlete.

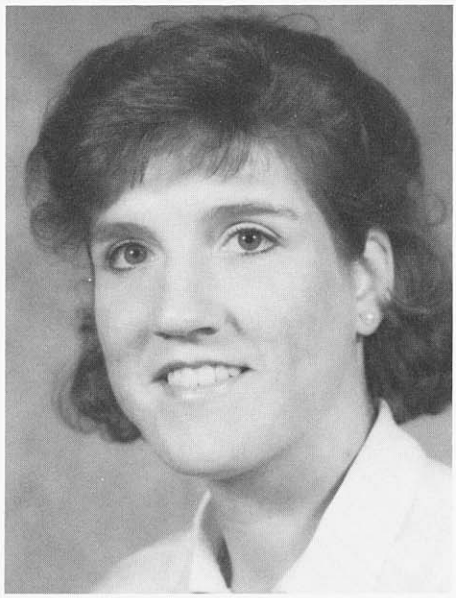
"I believe sports should be fun. I love my job because it is both challenging and fun. I want the players who play for me to feel the same way. I feel they will play to the best of their ability if they sincerely enjoy playing. There are numerous rewards from athletics, and it is my job as a coach to make sure my players receive these rewards. I will have succeeded as a coach if I can honestly say I provided as positive an experience as possible for each one of my athletes."

Assistant Coach—Stephanie Hawbecker

Stephanie Hawbecker joined the Badger program as assistant coach in 1987, bringing with her strong playing and coaching credentials.

A former volleyball standout at Illinois State, Hawbecker started three years for the Redbirds. She led State to the Gateway Conference Championship in 1982, and an appearance in the NCAA post-season tournament that same year. Hawbecker also competed for the Redbird basketball team one year prior to receiving her degree in physical education in 1983.

Hawbecker gained extensive clinic and camp coaching experience while earning her master's degree in physical education at Illinois State. She served two years as the assistant volleyball coach and instructor of physical education at Southwest Missouri State prior to coming to Wisconsin.

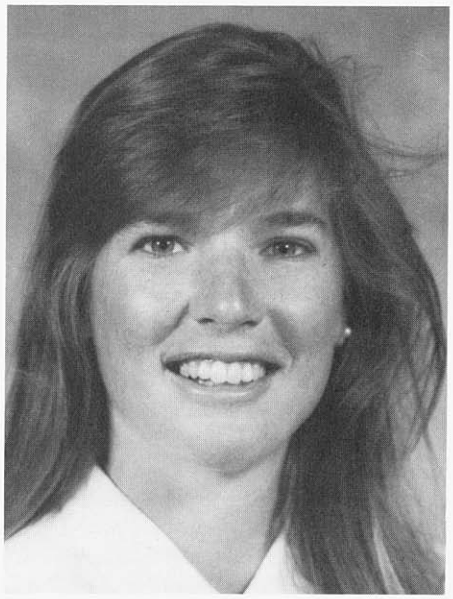


Assistant Coach—Margie Fitzpatrick

Margie (Kaminski) Fitzpatrick, a former UW volleyball player, begins her first season as a member of the Badger volleyball staff. Margie is a 1989 graduate of the University of Wisconsin–Madison in recreation resource management and worked as a recreation therapist for Warren Barr Pavilion in Chicago prior to returning to Madison.

Her coaching resume includes experience at the USVBA in West Allis, Wis. and Sports Camp International in Grand Rapids, Mich. In addition, Margie worked with the Badger volleyball camp for four years while a student-athlete at Wisconsin.

Wisconsin's most valuable player in 1986 and 1987, Margie served as captain of the 1987 team and is a three-time all-Big Ten selection. She is the UW school record holder for career service aces with 166 and ranks among the top-10 in every hitting and blocking career category.



Graduate Assistant Coach—Andrea Redick

Andrea is in her first season with the Badgers as a graduate assistant. She is a 1989 graduate of the University of the Pacific with a degree in communications and public relations and is pursuing a masters degree in education administration from the University of Wisconsin.

Andrea was a four year member of the Tigers' volleyball team and served as captain of the 1989 squad. She was part of the NCAA Championship team when Steve Lowe was an assistant coach at UOP in 1985, and was a member of team that repeated as national champs in 1986. She also earned Most Dedicated Player honors her senior year.

◊ 1990 Badger Preview

The University of Wisconsin women's volleyball team struck gold in 1989 winning the inaugural Women's Invitational Volleyball Championship (WIVC) title in the program's first post-season tournament appearance. This year the Badgers will keep on digging for national prominence.

"We are really pleased with winning the WIVC," commented Head Coach Steve Lowe. "It was special to win the inaugural tournament because that makes us feel like part of collegiate volleyball history. We also know it means there are more good things to come for Wisconsin Volleyball."

The Badgers return eight players from last year's squad that finished the season with the best record in the history of the program at 26–11. One of the reasons for that success was strong blocking. Returning to lead the Badger blocking corps this season is senior Lisa Boyd, the Big Ten Conference's leading blocker last season. Boyd, a 1990 team co-captain, was the WIVC Most Valuable Player and is a candidate for all-America honors this season.

According to Lowe, there isn't anything Lisa doesn't do well. "Lisa excels at blocking, but is also an outstanding all-around player," Lowe said. "She will really have to do a lot this season for us to be successful, and that will mean carrying the bulk of the offensive load." Boyd, a two-time all–Big Ten honorable mention honoree, was the Badgers' most efficient hitter last season with a school record .310 hitting percentage. "Lisa is our strongest returning hitter and will be getting the ball a lot," Lowe commented. "She is really determined to have a great senior year."

Another key to the Badgers' conference-leading blocking statistics was the emergence of Arlisa Hagan, a 6–1 middle blocker who competed in her first season last year after a red-shirt freshman year. The Badgers Most Improved Player last season, Hagan began the season as the fourth middle blocker and by the end of the season was a starter. "We are very excited about Lisa's development," Lowe said. "Last season, she showed everyone just a hint of what she can do for us." Hagan wasn't subtle with her hint, tallying 25 block solos and 59 block assists, second only to Boyd's marks.

Hagan's ability and enthusiasm are assets that stand out when Wisconsin's on the floor, according to Lowe. "Lisa showed us outstanding blocking and hitting ability last season. We had hoped that given time to develop the necessary skills, Lisa would become a dominant player and we saw the beginning of that last year," Lowe added. "She's a very enthusiastic player and that helps us establish and maintain momentum in our favor."

It's cause for jubilation, as the Badgers celebrate another home victory. The Badgers extended their consecutive home win streak to 10, dating back to the end of the 1988 season, when they opened the 1989 campaign with seven straight home victories.

Momentum swings in favor of the Badgers were also a consequence of Jeanette Simenson's play last season. The 6–0 junior middle blocker played exceptionally well at the WIVC, and will compete for a middle blocker position this season, according to Lowe. "Jeanette consistently provided us with excellent serving at the WIVC and swung the momentum of the games in our favor with her intensity," Lowe said. "Our players play better around her because of her fighting spirit."

With the loss of Susan Temple, the UW school record holder in assists, Lowe envisions junior Liz Tortorello setting the Badger's new 5–1 offense. Tortorello, who shared setting duties with Temple her first two seasons, should establish herself as one of the finest setters in the Big Ten this season. "She is a real leader," Lowe commented. "One of the things that sets Liz apart from other setters is her ability to handle the bad pass."

A two-time U.S. Olympic Festival participant, Tortorello amassed 1340 assists as a Badger under the 6–2 offense, and Lowe is confident that having Liz set the 5–1 offense will aid the Badger attack. "She has the skill that allows her to fool the opponents' middle blocker enabling our hitter to go one on one."

Anxious to dig in under the new attack is junior Susan Wohlford, last year's Most Valuable Player. Wohlford topped her own school record in digs per season with 491 last season and capped off a stellar sophomore season with WIVC All-Tournament honors. According to Lowe, Wohlford has already made herself known as one of the most competitive players in the country. "Wherever we play, people comment on number 11," Lowe said. "Her aggressive, give-it-all-you-got style makes her fun to watch. This season we will utilize Susan's quickness giving more movement and diversity to our offense," he added.

A key offensive threat for the Badgers last season was Marianne Kelm, a 6–0 hitter, who led the Badgers with 425 kills (3.48 per game). Kelm set a school record with 245 kills in Big Ten competition and was a member of the WIVC all-tournament team. "Marianne gives us a strong, aggressive attack," Lowe said. "She has become a very dominating hitter. At the end of last season she was our 'go to person' when we wanted to end opponent rallies and score points. I believe she is becoming one of the finest outside hitters in the Big Ten," he added.

Another bright spot in the Badger attack last season was the play of Sara Wilson, a transfer from North Carolina. In her first season with the Badgers, the 6–1 hitter was an offensive threat in the middle, but Lowe says Wilson may shift to an outside position this season to take better advantage of her power. "One of our needs this season is a leftside hitter, and we believe Sara can fill that need," Lowe commented. "Having her hit from there will give us strong blocking on the leftside and allow us to use her more off the quick set."

An outside hitter who gleams in the Badger backcourt is senior Jackie Johnson. Voted Hardest Worker on the UW squad the past two years, Johnson is known for her aggressive defensive play. "We are really excited about Jackie's senior year," Lowe commented. "She will do a lot of passing for us this year, and we may work her as a rightside hitter where we can also use her blocking ability. If she excels in her areas of strength—blocking, passing and defense—what she gives us as a hitter will be icing on the cake," Lowe said.

A sweet discovery for the Wisconsin staff could be a healthy Alison Abraham, who underwent knee surgery in the off season and did not participate in spring competition. Abraham, a red-shirt her freshman season, collected 416 kills the last two years and earned most improved honors after her first season. "Alison was not 100 percent last season and we hope with the surgery she will be a stronger hitter," Lowe said. "We are excited about her progress in terms of her all-around play, and are eager to have her become the dominant hitter we believe she can be," Lowe added.

Returning for her senior season after a year off from competition is outside hitter Mary Penosky. A starter her freshman and sophomore years, Penosky provided outstanding all-around play. Penosky was used primarily as a setter her freshman year before moving to the outside hitter position as a sophomore. "Mary will be competing for an outside hitter position," Lowe stated. "She plays very good defense, blocks well, hits well and has setting ability. Mary appears ready for a fine senior year."

As if the returnees don't provide enough talent for Lowe to review, he will also be surveying the skills of three newcomers. Freshmen Angie Meyer and Kristin Sobocinski, along with newcomer Julie Tonne, a transfer from the University of Wisconsin–Eau Claire, will vie for court time.

Meyer, a Volleyball Monthly All-American first team selection, played the middle blocker position in high school, but was an outside hitter for her club team. "One of the great things about Angie is that she does a variety of things well," commented Lowe. "She is well-trained in all areas of the game and should have an impact on this team."

A 5–9 setter, Sobocinski is also expected to contribute immediately. According to Lowe, Sobocinski will aid the Badgers in a variety of ways. "Kristin will compete for the starting setter position, but will also be used in the position opposite the setter because she can hit and block," Lowe said. A Volleyball Monthly second team selection, Sobocinski was a Wisconsin all-State selection in volleyball and basketball. "She is a very talented athlete. We are really excited about Kristin's work ethic and her commitment to be an excellent player."

A leading player in division III volleyball while a member of the UW–Eau Claire squad, Tonne will give the Badgers flexibility in that she can play a variety of positions. "Julie is anxious to test her skills at a higher level and should add to our blocking and hitting games."

According to Lowe, a big reason the Badgers were eye-catching last season was their successful blocking. "Blocking is something we have done well since I've been here and something we hope to continue to do well," Lowe said. Wisconsin averaged over three blocks a game last season, the only Big Ten team to do so, and with the core of that blocking team returning, the Badgers should continue to shine in that facet of the game.

Last season, Wisconsin set a school record with a .227 hitting percentage. Gone from that record-setting squad is Andrea York due to academic difficulties, but Lowe hopes the strong middle threat will persist.

"With good passing our middle game will continue to be strong, and we will improve our overall attack by getting more movement from our outside hitters, especially Susan Wohlford," Lowe commented. "Liz is able to direct the ball anywhere on the net and that will make our offense more unpredictable."

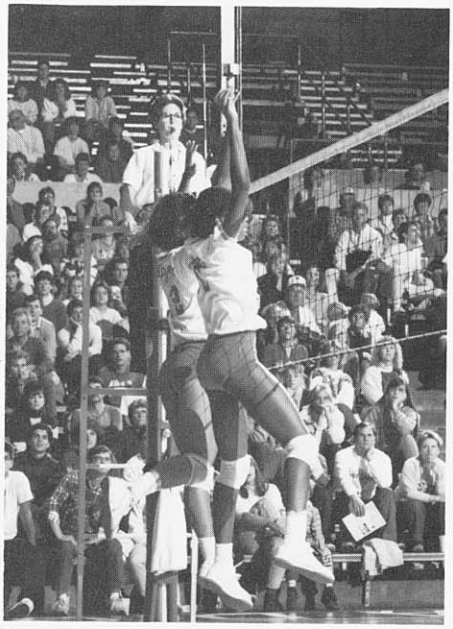
Anticipation is high after a successful first strike and the Badgers are anxious to provide even more of a rush for the record number fans that turned out last season. "One of the things we are most excited about this season is our competitive schedule," Lowe said. The Wisconsin schedule includes matches against 1989 NCAA Champion Long Beach State, and final four teams Nebraska and UCLA. The Badgers will also meet four other teams that ranked among the top-25 in last season's final poll.

Last year Wisconsin was 17–2 against non-conference opponents. This year's non-conference slate is highlighted by several premier tournaments featuring elite competition. "It is very exciting to play the top teams in the nation and get a feel for where our program is developmentally," Lowe stated.

The tougher schedule may mean a less impressive non-conference mark, but Lowe feels it will aid the Badgers in this season's quest. "Our main goal is a higher finish in the Big Ten and I believe a tougher non-conference schedule will help us accomplish that goal," Lowe said. Wisconsin tied for fifth in the Big Ten last season with a 9–9 record. "Hopefully we will pull a few upsets outside Big Ten competition."

Wisconsin will open the season as host of it's first Volleyball Monthly Invitational with UCLA, Duke and Pittsburgh. "Being the host of a premier tournament which attracts top schools and large crowds, is very positive testimony for the future of Wisconsin volleyball," Lowe said. "Developing fan support is essential to building a program and this season we are looking to increase our base of support."

After only four years of chipping away, Lowe and staff hit paydirt, and their first strike shows promise of an even bigger claim.



The Badgers, more than doubled their 1988 attendance figures last season, recording the third best mark in the Big Ten Conference with an average of 818 per game.

◊ Big Ten Opponents

Athletic Conference and Competition

The University of Wisconsin is a Division I member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The NCAA, which established women's championships in 1981–82, conducts 33 women's championships in 15 sports.

In addition to its national affiliation, the University of Wisconsin–Madison benefits from the interest and media exposure associated with the Big Ten Conference. As a Big Ten school, Wisconsin athletes compete in conference championships in basketball, cross country, golf, gymnastics, swimming and diving, tennis, indoor and outdoor track and field, and volleyball. The basketball and volleyball teams compete in round-robin conference action, both at home and away. The other Big Ten sport seasons culminate in a Big Ten Championship event.

Other Big Ten institutions include Illinois (Champaign, Ill.), Indiana (Bloomington, Ind.), Iowa (Iowa City, Iowa), Michigan (Ann Arbor, Mich.), Michigan State (East Lansing, Mich.), Minnesota (Minneapolis, Minn.), Northwestern (Evanston, Ill.), Ohio State (Columbus, Ohio), and Purdue (West Lafayette, Ind.).

The Big Ten Conference is considered one of the premier athletic conferences in the nation. From Michigan's 1989 NCAA men's basketball championship title to Wisconsin's 1990 NCAA hockey championship, the Big Ten schools are always well represented in national competition.

Begun in 1895, the "Intercollegiate Conference of Faculty Representatives" (popularly known as the Big Ten) has changed little from its original philosophy of faculty control of athletics, and emphasis on the student-athlete.

Women's athletics programs became affiliated with the Conference officially in 1981, although unofficial championships had been held among the member institutions since 1972.

◊ Academics and Scholarship Information

The University of Wisconsin–Madison is recognized throughout the world as one of this nation's great universities. You will find here, on a single campus, a complete spectrum of liberal arts studies and professional programs, a combination that has ranked consistently high in study after study of both individual departments and the University as a whole. In countless surveys and analyses from 1900 to present, the University of Wisconsin–Madison has ranked among the top 10 educational institutions in the country: for academic quality, for excellence of faculty and for overall undergraduate environment.

This prominence is not restricted to a few academic areas. One recent survey rated 49 different undergraduate programs at the University among the top 10 in the nation. Among the departments ranked highly in this and other surveys were such disparate areas as bacteriology, chemical engineering, dairy science, education, German, history, molecular biology, physical education, plant pathology, political science, Spanish, sociology, and zoology. Because of its excellence across the board, the University attracts students not only from Wisconsin, but from every part of the country, and has one of the largest populations of foreign students in the United States.

Such broad academic strength is an educational gold mine for the motivated and academically prepared student. The University of Wisconsin–Madison offers unique opportunities for students who want a broad education as well as specialty. If this is the kind of education you feel you're ready for, we hope you will visit the campus and take a closer look at the experience that awaits you at the University of Wisconsin–Madison.

☐ Scholarships

UW–Madison is proud to offer to its prospective student-athletes one of the most comprehensive athletic scholarship programs in the nation. As a Division I member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), scholarships are awarded to women athletes on a one-year basis, renewable from year to year if scholastic and athletic commitment are maintained.

Full and partial scholarships are available in all varsity sports with the exception of crew and fencing, which do not grant scholarships. Full scholarships include the cost of room and board in addition to tuition and fees. The selection of scholarship recipients is based on athletic ability and projected academic success at the University of Wisconsin–Madison.

Prospective women athletes who are interested in applying for grants-in-aid should contact the coach of their respective sports in care of Division of Intercollegiate Athletics, 1440 Monroe St., Madison, WI, 53711.

We also encourage athletes to contact the Office of Student Financial Services, 432 North Murray Street, Room 231, Madison, WI, 53706 for additional information concerning grants-in-aid.

◊ Student Affairs

Academic excellence is emphasized at Wisconsin. Much of the credit for the impressive academic record behind many Badger athletes is the counseling system available to the men and women student athletes.

Three full-time staff members, Associate Athletic Director Jan Wheaton and Counselors Alan Zussman and Mary Weaver, conduct the Wisconsin Student Affairs program offered to the nearly 900 Badger athletes. The advising staff has a comprehensive understanding of academics at Wisconsin, and a permanent line of communication with all University departments.

For those athletes who do request assistance, Jan, Alan, and Mary offer counseling sessions on a one-to-one basis at a time appropriate for the athlete. Wisconsin athletes are encouraged to be degree-oriented while allowing for the flexibility to explore different areas. The counseling staff takes a personal approach to each athlete in determining his or her individual needs, whether the needs be personal or academic in nature.

Academic counselor Mary Weaver assists volleyball player Arlisa Hagan with her choice of classes. Athletes are required to be degree-oriented while allowing for the flexibility to explore different areas.

"Our student-athletes will leave UW–Madison with marketable skills and an ability to contribute to society."

Associate Athletic Director Jan Wheaton directs the Office of Student Affairs located in Camp Randall Stadium. The office provides academic counseling for Wisconsin's men and women student-athletes.

◊ UW Sports Facilities

Athletes at the University of Wisconsin benefit from some of the finest sports facilities found anywhere in the country. From practice and competitive areas to athletic and weight training, Wisconsin offers modern and well-equipped facilities for its women athletes.

The basketball and volleyball teams practice and compete in the Wisconsin Fieldhouse, which seats 12,204. The Fieldhouse features four remodeled locker rooms and a modern athletic training area. Other recent additions include a new lighting system and new sound system.

The Wisconsin tennis teams have a competitive advantage in their ability to play year-round at one of the best college facilities in the United States. In 1984, the Nielsen Tennis Stadium was ranked by the USTA as the number one indoor tennis facility. It seats 1500 spectators and is valued at over $8 million. It features 18 tennis courts (12 indoor and six outdoor), five squash courts, and one squash doubles court.

The stadium, located close to the lakeshore dormitories, is named for Arthur C. Nielsen, founder of the Nielsen television rating system. Nielsen captained the Wisconsin men's tennis team from 1916 to 1918 while a student in electrical engineering.

Wisconsin's track teams benefit from practicing and competing during the indoor season in the Camp Randall Memorial Sports Center. Located next to Camp Randall Football Stadium, the "Shell" contains a 220-yard Mondo rubber track, throwing and jumping areas in the infield, and a seating capacity of 2500.

During the outdoor season, Wisconsin track and cross country athletes have the opportunity to use one of the finest tracks in the Midwest. The newly renovated 400-meter, Mondo rubber outdoor track is located on the west side of campus. The Dan McClimon Memorial Track, dedicated in honor of the former Wisconsin head men's track and cross country coach, was the site of the 1986 Men's and Women's Big Ten Outdoor Track Championships. Planning and fund-raising are underway for the next phase of construction: the addition of permanent spectator seating with press box and locker room facilities.

The swimming and diving team has the luxury of having two pools where they practice and compete—the Natatorium adjacent to Unit II, and the new Unit III facility, or SERF. The "Nat" contains an eight-lane, 25-yard racing pool equipped with a fully automatic Colorado Timing System and digital readout score board. The 50' × 40' separate diving well is fitted with three one-meter and two three-meter Dura (Maxi) Flex boards. The recently completed Unit III facility features an indoor long course pool with movable bulkheads that more than double the program's training space.

The Wisconsin men's and women's gymnastics teams train and compete in the renovated Armory located on central campus along Lake Mendota. Better known on campus as the Red Gym, the facility provides over 15,000 square feet of training space and specatator seating. Gymnasts are provided plenty of working space and equipment, including a large foam training pit, 10 balance beams, four sets of uneven parallel bars, and ample floor exercise practice space.
